Helpful Fry Management Tips

- For perfectly fried foods, maintain the correct oil temperature, keeping food moist inside and golden outside.
- Make sure pieces are uniform in size so that they finish cooking in approximately the same amount of time.
- Use a skimmer to remove particles of food from the surface of the oil to prevent food from burning and to extend the life of the oil.
- Salt or season foods after they have been fried and moved away from the cooking area to prevent oil contamination.
- Once fried, foods should be served immediately.
